ABBREVIATIONS

Standard Month Abbreviations:

Jan., Feb., Mar., Apr., May, June, July, Aug., Sept., Oct., Nov., Dec.

Some Standard MLA Abbreviations:

vol. (volume), no. (issue number), p. (one page), pp. (multiple pages),
ed. (edition), UP (University Press), et al. (Latin for “and others”), doi: (digital object identifier).

General Punctuation Rule:

Make sure there is a period after all of the information about: (1) the authors, (2) the title of the article or book, (3) the original publication, (4) the online database, and (5) the access date. Every other part of the entry is followed by a comma.

SOME COMMON DATABASE ERRORS

1. Capitalize each important word in a title (called title case). Some databases only capitalize the first letter of the first word in the title while others incorrectly capitalize the entire title. Others randomly capitalize some words correctly but other words incorrectly.
2. Be sure to be consistent in your use of quotation marks. “Smart quotes” are angled around the text while “straight quotes” are not.
3. Make sure only the proper months are abbreviated. Make sure May June and July do not have a period at the end. An entry may incorrectly read 15 May. 2013 or 15 Jun. 2013, so correct them to read 15 May 2013 and 15 June 2013.
4. Remove any leading zeroes from the date and from page numbers. For example, 05 May 2013 would simply be 5 May 2013 and p. 07 would simply be p.7.
5. Make sure to include the full date, for many databases remove the day, month or season on scholarly journals and give only the volume and issue numbers with the year.
6. Make sure the proper page number abbreviation is used. A single page uses “p.” while pp. is the correct abbreviation for multiple pages. Remember that a plus sign after a page number means there are more nonconsecutive pages.

7. There is no period or dash between the section letter and page numbers in a newspaper. Take it out. Something like A.22 should read A22; C-7 should read C7.
8. If the citation does not give a page number but you find one at the top of the printout, add it to the Works Cited entry.
9. Remove business words like “Incorporated,” “Company,” “Limited,” and “Corporation” and their abbreviations (“Inc.,” “Co.,” “Ltd.” “LLC,” “Corp.”) from publisher’s names. In the names of academic presses, replace “University Press” with UP, any instance of “University” with U, and replace any instance of “Press” with P.
10. Look for a “Document number” or “Document id” instead of a URL. Sometimes, it is printed on the bottom of the printout. Gale resources put “GALE|” before the doi, but it is not part of the doi. ABC-CLIO databases call the doi an “Entry ID” and print it at the bottom of the printout. ProQuest databases place it in a separate “Details” section that can be printed. You can confirm you have an actual “digital object identifier” by locating it inside the URL and by trying to use it. You will write doi: and this number without any space between them. doi:A477338724.
11. Some databases, like SIRS Discoverer, offer a stable, durable permalink accessible by clicking “Copy URL” on the tools menu on the top left side of the webpage. History Study Center calls it a “durable URL” and places it on the right side near the top of the page. Use these instead of the URL the database provides in their given Works Cited entry. Britannica Academic, World Book Student, World Religions Online, and Issues and Controversy in American History Online properly include the stable URL in the Works Cited entry.
12. Remove the “http://” from all URLs.
13. If missing, make sure to add the “Accessed” date to online sources. The last item in the entry should be the word “Accessed” and the day month year you printed the source, Accessed 1 Apr. 2018, unless the source includes information at the end about the original publication.
14. Unknown information has no abbreviation. Remove any “n/a,” “np,” or other nonstandard MLA 8th edition abbreviations.
15. All Works Cited entries end with a period.
