

EXTRA EXTRA PRACTICE

1. The land to the west of us is owned by the Double L Ranch, and my uncle owns the land to the north of us.
2. Alice's feet are larger than Grace.
3. Many researchers believe that students should study plenty before a quiz, they need to take frequent breaks, and they require time to ask clarifying questions of their teacher long before the assessment begins.
4. The team's defeat was caused by sudden illnesses, by debilitating injuries, and the weather was bad for football.
5. Success with parallelism requires the persistence of a bulldog, patience that rivals a saint's, the mind of a wise man.
6. Concentrating on the musical score is as challenging as to keep the proper tempo.
7. We argued with the salesperson and store owner about the refund policy in the store.
8. Jack is not only good-natured, but you can rely on him any day of the week.
9. These new examples are more confusing than they have turned out to be helpful.

10. Answers are available on both the Internet and the textbooks to which students have access.

11. Everyone needs lots of time to study, practice, to eat snacks, and to drink caffeinated beverages.

12. Some students get to study with their teacher at Starbucks while other students have to stay at home and have to practice with no one.
